Tumescent liposuction is the most common liposuction technique used to permanently remove pockets of unwanted fat via suction. It ' s also one of the most popular cosmetic procedures performed in the United States. The term tumescent refers to the type of anesthetic solution used during liposuction rather than the instruments used to extract the fat (thin tubes called cannulas).

Liposuction, or simply lipo, is a type of fat-removal procedure used in plastic surgery. Evidence does not support an effect on weight beyond a couple of months and does not appear to affect obesity-related problems. In the United States, liposuction is the most common cosmetic surgery. The procedure may be performed under general, regional, or local anesthesia. It involves using a cannula and negative pressure to suck out fat. As a cosmetic procedure it is believed to work best on people with a

Liposuction - Wikipedia

The tumescent technique, a method of infusing very large volumes of dilute lidocaine with epinephrine solutions, has been advocated as a satisfactory means for providing conscious anesthesia for liposuction procedures, avoiding the need for general anesthesia. The syringe technique employs blunt-tipped suction cannulae connected to a syringe.
